Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Crater Lake adventure through photography, enjoy the first snow at Crater Lake in early October 2016, on the 9th of the month. The day was miraculous, and virtually not planned at all. On a whim, we decided to visit Crater Lake after visiting Toketee Falls near by. The crater was gorgeous, a cobalt blue and a heavenly blue, and as I can attest, one of the most beautiful days ever at Crater Lake. I have been to this magnificent place numerous times at all seasons, and in all years totaling almost forty in all. Today was extra miraculous in taking the perfect photographs of this area. The pictures are virtually untouched, un edited intentionally, as they were seen. Still my eyes beheld the colors even richer and even more bright than can be displayed here. However to add the colors in would, in my mind, regarding this photo session, just not an option. Please enjoy a day with me and my family as we visited Crater Lake in it s splendor. The wind was almost icy cold, as the sun slid across the skies. I put together a video on youtube you can enjoy along with this book, seeing the actual pictures in video format in some instances. Excuse the chemtrails, as Hurricane Matthew is shot across the skies, using numerous of hundreds of HAARP technologies. Enjoy interactive videos with more of Crater Lake by Laurel Sobol on youtube.
