Little, Brown Book Group, United Kingdom, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. From her days as a child reader in the 1940s, through her time at Harvard, where she studied the Victorian ancestors of the form, and later as a writer and reviewer, Margaret Atwood has always been fascinated with science fiction. Here she brings together three Ellmann lectures: Flying Rabbits begins with her early rabbit superhero creations, and goes on to speculate about masks, capes, weakling alter egos and Things with Wings; Burning Bushes travels into Victorian otherlands and beyond; and Dire Cartographies investigates Utopias and Dystopias, including Atwood s own ventures into those constructions. In further essays Atwood explores and critiques the form, and elucidates the differences - as she sees them - between science fiction proper, and speculative fiction , not to mention sword and sorcery , fantasy and slipstream fiction . In Other Worlds is a must.
