Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. Excerpt from Improvement Era, Vol. 1: March, 1898 If you wish to know something about farming, you would go to farmers and talk with them and associate with them. If you wish to know about the things of God, go and talk to him and associate with men of God, and you will find they carry an influence with them for good that you can't help feeling when in their presence, any more than you could stand by a red hot stove and not feel the heat from it. I might pick some fruit of a peculiar kind and taste it, and then turn to you and say, It is good, but has a very peculiar taste; you would think maybe it had, but you would not know. One hundred more might go and partake of this fruit, and turn and tell you the same as I had done regarding the peculiar taste, but this would only strengthen your belief, you would still be in doubt; but if you go and partake of this fruit, then all doubt is removed; you have an actual living knowledge for yourself thereafter, and no amount of talk from others that have not tasted this fruit and don't know of the peculiar taste it has.
