Excerpt from An Oration Delivered at the Dedication of the Soldiers Monument in North Weymouth, Mass., On Saturday, July 4, 1868 We have assembled here to-day under circumstances which no man of this generation had a right to anticipate. The Fourth of July, the great birth-day of our Republic, was transmitted to us by our fathers, laden with a wealth of associations and memories, which seemed to be an inheritance as ample as Providence in its supreme wisdom would ever vouchsafe to its most chosen people. The heroism of our revolutionary fathers, unmatched in history, gave inspiration to our people through all the changes and trials of three quarters of a century. The august form of Washington presided everywhere, inspired our orators, guided our statesmen, illumined our land. The profound declarations of Jefferson were the gospel of our nationality. Around the sacred scenes of the revolution we loved to linger - with Pickering and his little band on that solemn Sunday afternoon at North Bridge with the valiant yeomanry of Concord and Lexington. And Parker's dying words; with Prescott and Warren on the bloody morning of Bunker Hill; with Washington, toiling and suffering and praying and trusting in God from Dorchester.
