What's for Lunch? (Paperback)

By Andrea Curtis

Red Deer College Press, Canada, Canada, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. VOYA's Non Fiction Honour List 2013 2013 Information Book Award Long List nominee Whether their school is under a banyan tree, in a dusty tent held up with poles or in a sturdy brick structure in the heart of a bustling city, all children need a healthy lunch to be able to learn and grow. Good food nourishes both our bodies and our brains. It's one of the basic building blocks of life. As the world has become more interconnected, what we eat has become part of a huge global system. Food is now the biggest industry on Earth. Growing it, processing it, transporting it and selling it have a major impact on people and the planet. Unpack a school lunch, and you'll discover that food is connected to issues that matter to everyone and everything such as climate change, health and inequality. In What's For Lunch Andrea Curtis reveals the variety and inequality to be found in the food consumed by young people in typical school lunches from thirteen countries around the world, including Japan, Kenya, Russia, United States and...

Reviews

It is one of the best books. Better than ever, though I am quite late in starting to read this one. You won't feel monotony at any moment of the time (that's what catalogues are for regarding the event you check with me).

An extremely awesome PDF with perfect and lucid reasons. I have got to go through and so I am certain that I will go to read again once again in the foreseeable future. I found out this ebook from my dad and I recommended this publication to understand.
