The Role of Women in Making and Building Peace i - Gender Sensitivity Versus Masculinity

By Theobald, Anne

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: ibidem | Gender Sensitivity versus Masculinity | In the early 2000s, Liberian women wearing wrap skirts, white T-shirts, and shouting: We want peace, no more war , attracted international attention. After almost fifteen years of civil war, the enduring active, multifaceted, and non-violent campaigning for peace by women s organisations contributed to the end of the fighting and the signing of a peace agreement between the warring factions. Although it is widely assumed that women s inclusion in peace processes yields greater attention to women s issues and needs in the aftermath of a conflict, this is only partly the case in Liberia. Thus, this analysis looks beyond the extraordinary commitment by women in Liberia and deals with the questions to what extent their role in the peace process has contributed to gender-sensitive outcomes in post-conflict Liberian society and why greater gender sensitivity was not achieved. By focusing on manifestations of patterns of masculinity in the public and private spheres, Anne Theobald identifies factors at different levels of analysis within different time frames that elucidate the unexpected outcome. Not only does this provide for a more encompassing understanding of dynamics of gender relations and context-specific variables impeding...

Reviews

Great electronic book and useful one. It can be written in straightforward terms rather than difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
