Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the Department of Defense's (DOD) ability to account for and report on the full costs of the foreign military sales (FMS) program, focusing on DODs: (1) recoupment of monies owed by FMS customers for the U. S. government's research, development, and production costs of major defense equipment; and (2) accountability over expenditures of FMS customers' funds. GAO focused on Air Force and Navy activities. GAO noted that: (1) the Air Force and Navy were not always recovering nonrecurring research, development, and production costs from the FMS trust fund as major defense equipment items were delivered to the FMS customer; (2) specifically, GAO identified over 183 million of nonrecurring costs related to items that were delivered--some as long ago as 1989--that had not been charged to the FMS customers' trust fund account; (3) for example, between July 1993 and November 1995, South Korea received 48 F-16 aircraft on a FMS case managed by the Air Force; (4) GAO's review of the case disclosed that no deliveries had been reported for the purpose of recovering nonrecurring research, development, and production costs; (5) had the Air Force followed DOD's procedures and reported the deliveries and recouped the nonrecurring costs within 30 days of physical delivery of the aircraft, it would have already charged South Korea's trust fund account for over 49 million of nonrecurring research, development, and production costs; and (6) Air Force and Navy officials agreed that FMS customers were not being properly charged for millions of dollars of nonrecurring costs for major defense equipment items they had received and have begun to take actions to recover the outstanding amounts. This item ships from La Vergne, TN....
